

The Good News

"To know the love of God in Jesus Christ, and to share that love through word and action."

May 2023

Pastor Robert's Reflections

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

I am huge fan of Star Trek particularly the Next Generation series which ran during my teen years. Besides the characters, cool new worlds, and species that are introduced throughout the series, what drew me back week after week was seeing how these characters would deal with a situation that challenged their set moral code.

Just in case you don't know anything about Star Trek, all the Characters are part of a group called "Starfleet" who are explorers in the future guided by what is called "The Prime Directive" which dictates how they should deal with new species they encounter. They are all part of a multispecies society where everything is shared and they do their best to settle disputes between various people in order to avoid violent conflicts. In nearly every episode they are presented with situations that cause them to question this strict moral code by which they live and must learn to resolve the issue by either using that code, finding a way around it, or breaking it. No matter how the situation resolves there are both positive and negative consequences that our protagonists have to deal with, and while many of the situations may seem bizarre from our 21st century perspective each situation is rooted in moral dilemmas that nearly all human beings encounter, or at least read about, throughout their lives.

What happens if our moral code causes an innocent person to get hurt?

What if we are called to do no violence, yet there is someone out there who must be stopped from hurting others?

Transition Committee Survey Report

Purpose, Giftedness & Mission

The Transition Committee is tasked with completing a Ministry Site Profile (MSP) document in preparation for calling a new pastor. A survey of members was conducted to gather data regarding our Purpose, Giftedness and Mission. The questions we need to answer from the MSP are as follows:

Purpose: How does this congregation or organization understand its reason for being in the light of God's call to mission and service? Who are you? Why are you here?

Giftedness: What are your gifts and resources for fulfilling this purpose? What are the congregation's or organization's top three assets and how are they being used? Are there obstacles that must be overcome to be able to use these gifts and accomplish the mission?

Mission: In light of the way you have described your ministry context in this Ministry Site Profile, what are the top three mission priorities which, if accomplished, hold the most promise for the continued development of this ministry?

The current Prince of Life mission statement reads as follows:

Our mission is to know the love of God in Jesus Christ, and to share that love through word and action.

How do we discern between solutions where one solution resolves immediate issues, yet may cause long term issues, or a solution that may cause harm in the short term but help in the long term?

How do we deal with those who do not share our moral code, yet we must somehow get along?

How do we deal with situations that call our moral code into question? Do we adapt or dig our heels in?

How should we deal with these and other questions?

Well before I try to answer any of those questions, I would like to bring up another TV show that just ended its run a few years ago, Breaking Bad. If you are unfamiliar with this show its basic concept revolves around the idea of how a seemingly normal person could potentially become an evil person without fully realizing it. The story focuses on a middle-aged high school science teacher who is diagnosed with terminal cancer and is looking for a way to make sure his family is financially secure after he passes. This leads him into the business of manufacturing and selling Methamphetamines. As he falls deeper and deeper into the drug world doing things he never thought himself capable of he keeps finding justification for his actions in the idea that all of this is for his family. This program provides a great (though extreme) example regarding how someone, when working in isolation can easily find excuses as to why they should compromise their beliefs. Sure the protagonist does have family and friends he could look to for support, but he keeps them all in the dark as to what his true purposes are thus only trusting his own judgment.

In contrast to this the characters in Star Trek do everything as a community, and it is when one of them decides to act out of self-interest rather than the good of the community that the group suffers.

For me these two programs help reinforce the Bible's teachings about being accountable toward each other, such as:

"Two are better than one, because they have a good reward for their toil. For if they fall, one will lift up the other; but woe to one who is alone and falls and does not have another to help. Again, if two lie together, they keep warm; but how can one keep warm alone? And though one might prevail against another, two will withstand one. A threefold cord is not quickly broken."

Ecclesiastes 4:9-12

I can't count the number of times I have heard people tell me, "I already know Jesus, I don't need to go to Church." Unfortunately knowing Jesus is different than being a follower of Christ, and to be a follower of Christ one must be a part of a faith community. As a community we hold each other accountable to the faith based morality that we all share. When people attempt to follow Jesus on their own it is too easy to continually compromise their beliefs to the point where Jesus stands up for everything we want him to stand up for, rather than what Christ actually stands for.

Accountability and community are essential in our lives as Christians and it is empowering to see people working together to move Prince of Life forward, and I look forward to seeing where this community goes in the future.

Or in Other words:
This is Prince of Life Lutheran Church, continuing its 45-year mission, to spread God's love, to new people, and new communities, to boldly proclaim God's love in ways nobody has done before!

FIRST EVANGELICAL
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"...to be fully devoted to Christ..."

April 3, 2023

*Prince of Life Lutheran Church
13896 Meyers Rd
Oregon City, OR 97045*

Dear Friends in Christ,

Your church has long been a great supporter of our weekly food program, HOPE (Other People Eat). We are open every Tuesday to serve our neighbors in need of help in feeding their families. Each donation is gladly distributed to all who visit us. Without donations from local businesses, individuals, and churches like yours, who have designated our program for your giving, we would not be able to keep our doors open.

Today we received a huge collection from your Lenten Food Drive that amounted to 1,155 pounds of boxed, canned, and packaged foods! Thank you so much and God bless all who participated! And we thank you for being a part of what we do here in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord!

May God continue to bless our efforts together as we serve our neighbors and community.

In Christ,

*Ken Bostrack
HOPE Pantry Coordinator*

Transition Committee Survey Report

The following statements were intended to gauge the degree to which the people of PoL share a common understanding of how our mission statement guides us in the living out of our faith. There is no intent for our current mission statement to be amended.

Note: The phrase “His Church” (below) refers to the body of all believers in Christ, not to any specific earthly congregation.

WORSHIP: God drew us into His Church because we need to hear His word and to experience His love in the sacraments. Worship is an expression of our love for God and of our unity in the body of Christ.

[36] 92% Agree [] Not sure [2] Disagree [1] Partially Agree [] No Answer

NURTURE: God drew us into His Church because as God’s children in a broken world, we constantly need to be nurtured by His love. Sharing His word through preaching and study of scripture helps us to understand the love God has for us and for all his children in this world.

[32] 82% Agree [3] Not sure [1] Disagree [3] Partially Agree [] No Answer

SERVICE: God drew us into His Church so that we can express God’s love to each other and to the larger community by giving our time and talents to meet the spiritual and physical needs of God’s children around us, whether they are members of Prince of Life, or not. We serve God by showing his love to others.

[38] 97% Agree [] Not sure [1] Disagree [] Partially Agree [] No Answer

WITNESS: God drew us into His Church because we have experienced God’s boundless love and we are moved to demonstrate that love to others so that all will come to recognize His love as a source of purpose and meaning for their own lives.

[29] 74% Agree [4] Not sure [2] Disagree [3] Partially Agree [1] No Answer

FELLOWSHIP: God drew us into His Church because we all belong to the body of Christ, we celebrate that loving relationship by gathering together in order to encourage and strengthen each other in our journey, as well as to welcome in others who seek to belong to a community of love with real purpose.

[36] 92% Agree [] Not sure [1] Disagree [2] Partially Agree [] No Answer

The survey demonstrates there is a high degree of clarity that Worship, Nurture, Service, Witness and Fellowship are key elements of our mission, just as they were essential to the life of the early church as described in the book of Acts.

In order for this congregation to survive long term in a rapidly changing culture it will be necessary to shift our main focus from trying to draw people into the church to focus on trying to reach out and connect with people who are currently outside the church.

[22] 56% Agree [7] Not sure [3] Disagree [8] Partially Agree [] No Answer

The question above was included to gauge perceptions concerning whether people believe it may be necessary for us to change how we relate to people outside the congregation in order to make a connection with them in our efforts to share the love of God in word and action. Clearly there is a degree of reluctance on the part of some to embrace change since the 56% level of agreement is the lowest score in this survey.

The following three statements were included as a way to ascertain how the people of this congregation would describe the gifts we possess for use in carrying out our mission.

Persistent Faithfulness:

This congregation pulled together during the pandemic and used creative and innovative methods to keep people engaged in worship and other activities of this congregation even when it was not always possible to meet face to face. Against all odds, the faith of the members has not faltered. Facing the need to find a new pastor, the congregation is forging ahead in that search, but also striving to continue and even expand the work of being a strong and vibrant community of faith.

[34] 87% Agree [1] Not sure [] Disagree [4] Partially Agree [] No Answer

Strong Sense of Community:

Not only is Prince of Life a place that exudes warmth and caring, it is also a community that extends itself to any and all people by openly proclaiming itself as a Reconciled In Christ congregation. Prince of Life embraces that identity and embraces all individuals who may have felt excluded in other communities. "All are welcome" is not just a slogan on a sign, it is a way of being the body of Christ.

[36] 92% Agree [] Not sure [1] Disagree [2] Partially Agree [] No Answer

Willingness to share our varied gifts and talents:

Although Prince of Life is not a huge congregation, its members recognize that the gifts that have been given to us by God are for the benefit of all His children, not just for our own benefit. To that end, Prince of Life members continue to share their gifts through various ministries that serve people in the larger Oregon City community, and beyond.

[36] 92% Agree [1] Not sure [] Disagree [2] Partially Agree [] No Answer

The high level of agreement with these statements is an indication that we all recognize God has blessed us with many gifts for use in His kingdom.

What other gifts and resources do you think are present at Prince of Life that should be part of fulfilling our mission?

Nearly a dozen people offered various suggestions concerning other gifts we possess. Several of these ideas mesh well with the statements above. In general, these suggestions highlight a very optimistic outlook toward carrying out our shared mission.

The following statements are included to determine whether we share a common understanding of what potential obstacles lay ahead on the path to fulfilling our mission.

Insufficient knowledge and understanding as to how best to effectively communicate and connect with people in the larger community given the rapidly evolving social media tools used by the modern world.

[26] 67% Agree [5] Not sure [4] Disagree [] Partially Agree
[4] No Answer

Perception that Prince of Life is an aging congregation that may not be able to reach out to and connect with people of younger generations in the hope of sustaining ministry into the future.

[27] 69% Agree [2] Not sure [4] Disagree [5] Partially Agree
[1] No Answer

Limited vision as to how the ministry of Prince of Life can and needs to evolve if it is to be successful in reaching future generations of people in the area.

[29] 74% Agree [7] Not sure [3] Disagree [3] Partially Agree
[3] No Answer

More than two thirds of all surveys indicated agreement that these are real obstacles facing Prince of Life.

What additional obstacles do you see that may stand in the way of Prince of Life fulfilling its mission?

Seventeen people offered comments about other obstacles which they perceive lie ahead for this congregation. A key element in several of these responses was they identified a belief that, as a people of faith with many gifts, we can overcome such obstacles. Other ideas offered will provide insight for the Transition Committee to flesh out our responses on the Ministry Site Profile.

Examples of high mission priorities for Prince of Life that have the most promise for continued development in terms of fulfilling our mission are listed below:

Expansion of our rich and engaging Worship Life:

Use the musical skills/talents and leadership in the congregation along with a visionary new pastor to build on the current worship dynamics and explore additional ways to engage people in meaningful and uplifting new worship experiences that may draw in new participants.

[31] 79% Agree [1] Not sure [2] Disagree [3] Partially Agree [1] No Answer

Build on this congregation's sense of community:

Reach out to individuals and families beyond the members of Prince of Life to get to know them as people, to understand their spiritual and social needs, and to join with them in seeking purpose and meaning in life.

[34] 87% Agree [1] Not sure [] Disagree [3] Partially Agree [1] No Answer

Use our facility as a community hub for spiritual connectedness:

While many community groups use the Prince of Life building on a regular basis, we recognize that there is potential to do so much more. Ideas such as day care for the children of working parents seems to have generated considerable interest. Using our assets to meet the needs of the larger community has the potential for making connections with people that have no relationship to Prince of Life, but like people everywhere are needing a place where they can connect with others to achieve a sense of belonging. Providing a place for people to gather as they explore issues related to social and economic justice, community safety, a clean environment, mental health, wellness, homelessness/housing, hunger, employment, education, and/or even culture is one potential way to bring people together. There is a need for God's faithful people to speak up and provide leadership to help our society to address these issues.

[32] 82% Agree [2] Not sure [2] Disagree [2] Partially Agree [1] No Answer

The high level of agreement with these statements indicates there are real opportunities in front of us for advancing our mission and that many members support pursuing these opportunities.

What other ideas do you have about priorities for mission that you believe have the most promise for the continued development of our ministry here at Prince of Life?

Ten people offered other ideas for mission priorities which they believe should be considered by Prince of Life. Some of these ideas are related to some aspects of the three priorities described above. Other ideas offered demonstrate there is interest and potential for Prince of Life to engage in a wide variety of challenges as we move forward.

Child, Youth, and Family Service Committee

In April, we started talks with the Clackamas County Children's Commission, the independent non-profit that runs the Head Start program in Clackamas County, about possible partnership between them and Prince of Life. We shared a broad long term vision that could start with the use of a portion of our lower floor for 2 Head Start classrooms, then eventually leasing the back area of our land and building a permanent facility for Head Start. Once that was built they would move the classes there and expand their operations to include after-school care, and possibly a comprehensive childcare program that includes a pilot program of blended Head Start eligible children and Head Start non-eligible children. That is a pretty tall order and both groups decided we need to take it one step at a time.

Studying the feasibility and developing a plan is the first step. The Children's Commission will determine first if there is a geographical need for the longer full day Head Start program here. Right now, they know there is a waiting list for that program at their Clackamas Community College site. They also want to discuss the full idea with their Board of Directors and get permission to spend time developing the vision and negotiating a long-term plan.

This plan was presented to the POL Church Council at their April 11th meeting. The Council agreed to have the Child, Youth, and Family Service Committee continue to negotiate these ideas in developing a partnership with the Clackamas County Children's Commission.

We've got a start, but it is far from certain that our idea will progress into the full vision. It could stop at any point along the way. Before any changes are made by Head Start to our downstairs, there will be a full comprehensive negotiated plan in writing that covers the entire concept. The Church Council and the congregation will both have to approve that plan.

In the meantime, the CYF members are your resource for information. We used our entire April meeting to report all the information we had gleaned so far and made plans for who is handling various aspects of negotiations over the next month.

Committee Chair

The Power of Prayer

Dear Prince of Life Family,
Many thanks for your prayers, phone calls and cards after my knee replacement surgery. I know that my recuperation was aided by your thoughtfulness and it is much appreciated!
Jerry Cook

We are very grateful for everyone's thoughts and prayers over the past months which have been shared for Ray's health issues, and for me, his caregiver.

Slowly but surely he is making progress and becoming a bit more independent, requiring less constant caregiving.

We pray this continues as time passes.

Thanks so much,
Barbara and Ray Renken

What if there was a simple way to address climate crisis—directly and effectively—without having to rely on politicians? Would we take the personal chance to make the needed social changes in the way we prepare and share our food?

Prince of Life youth and families have begun to explore some of these alternatives!

Wednesday, March 30, seven youth and nine adults planted three beds of cabbage and kale at Acres of Abundant Grace in Canby, as part of an exciting ground-to-plate “kid’s kitchen” project sponsored by a year-old ministry known as Climate Café.

During Spring Break, this hardy group of adventurers set out—in between rainstorms—to discover hands-on what it would be like to help generate a community meal “from the ground up.” Folks from Prince of Life, ELCA, gathered at a local farm, together with members of Christ the Healer, UCC, to learn, hands-on, about regenerative farming and to help plant produce that will source delicious, nutritious and ecologically friend meals at the end of the growing season. We also visited a lively flock of Nigerian goats on the neighboring farm and picnicked together afterwards.

What is Climate Café? In a nutshell, it’s an effort to INVITE folks with all different kinds of beliefs to enjoy a meal that is locally sourced, plant based, regeneratively grown, sustainably prepared with a low carbon footprint.

Inspirational learning—from poetry and drama to talks by the farmers and demonstrations by the chefs are also part of the program.

Climate Café has been in existence for over a year now, popping up in various greater Portland venues such as Hillsdale Community Church and St. Luke, ELCA among others. This interfaith, intergenerational effort is based on the belief that adjusting the way we eat goes a long way to addressing climate crisis. Based on a gift economy in which doners with plentiful resources share with diners who have less to give, Climate Café so far is an all-volunteer effort.

Since it is the youth who are inheriting an earth that has already been damaged, it will be the energy and insight of youngsters working alongside elders that tip the ecological balance of our planet.

Reaching out to churches, community groups, and non-industrial farms, Climate Café is in the process of developing an allied children and youth component to promote greater awareness of positive solutions to climate change and to generate involvement in sustainable and regenerative growing practices.

Mission Endowment Committee

Hello My Church Family ,

April Showers bring May flowers. Just like making a donation to the Mission Endowment Fund now will bring dividends later that will be used to provide grants for community applicants.

Our own Piece by Piece quilters received a grant this last year. So they are able to continue their ministry thru making quilts.

The principal is not touched only the dividends are distributed each year. So as the endowment grows. So does our ability to provide grants.

Consider making a donation to the Mission Endowment. Oh and if april showers bring mayflowers. What do mayflowers bring?

Remembering Rollie Packer

Our prayers are with Betsy and all of the Packer family as they celebrated Rollie's life and faith this past Friday. Rollie passed away on March 20th. For many years Rollie and Betsy have blessed our Prince of Life congregation, responding to God's love by working for the care of others. They helped found the Clackamas County chapter of Love, INC., an organization formed to care for the practical and spiritual needs of local people in need. Rollie was also involved in Prince of Life's Bunk Bed Ministry and Start Right program among other outreach services. We are thankful for Rollie's caring and compassionate faith that he shared with all of us.

If you wish to remember Betsy and the family with a card, you are invited to send it to: Betsy Packer and family Morning Star Assisted Living, 14391 SE Princeton Way, Apt. 211, Happy Valley, Oregon 97015

The family has requested that if you wish to honor Rollie with a memorial, please send it directly to: LOVE, INC. of Clackamas County, PO Box 2378, Oregon City, Oregon 97045.

May God bless the Packer family with comfort and peace.
